

ORGANIC

Once upon a time, clean, beautiful skin was about using the healing qualities of Mother Earth's bounty. Herbs and essences were combined in formulations refined over generations, based in knowledge that was passed down from parent to child. But somewhere along the way, bodycare turned into chemistry-set ingredients and promises of eternal youth, promises that no cream or lotion can keep. Herbal ingredients became marketing catch-phrases, and in a rush to modernity, something was lost.

At Brigit True Organics, we wanted to recapture the magic of the old formulas, with the benefit of contemporary thinking. We knew that by combining pure, simple ingredients using both traditional herbal wisdom and modern scientific knowledge, we could create a second path, an alternative to processed bodycare.

So we set out to make the best, most nourishing line of healing balms, soothing creams, and luxuriant castile soaps we knew how, with one of the highest percentages of organic ingredients available. Using artisanal processes refined over generations, we created a line without compromise, free from mineral oil, synthetic stabilizers, fillers, scents, or colorings.

Making the most luxuriant, luscious, invigorating, rejuvenating bodycare available wasn't enough for us. We had to join a revolution.

When we were done, we knew we had something truly different. Bodycare that respects the old ways, and embraces modern priorities. Bodycare that renews and sustains. Bodycare that's as good for the Earth as it is for your skin.

For most companies, that would be enough, but BTO's philosophy goes beyond product. We understand that we are part of a global community, that there are consequences for our every action. By using 82-99% organic ingredients - one of the highest percentages available - we reduce our "footprint" on the environment. And by supporting sustainable agriculture and Green production methods, we join a growing movement of companies committed to putting Earth first.

BRIGIT
TRUE ORGANICS

Making such pure, Earth-conscious products may be a challenge. We probably spend as much time sourcing our ingredients as we do making soap. But in the end, you can indulge in using the healthiest, purest, most luxuriant bodycare possible. And we can indulge in doing something quietly revolutionary.

Beautiful Skin. Beautiful Planet.

Printed on 100% recycled paper with vegetable based ink.
